Hot Pepper Portfolio

About Us

Through our sustainable community platform and food technology, we provide a range of hot peppers in various formats, including dried pepper, pepper mash and pepper purees, showcasing authentic flavors from the Latin American region.

Our Value Preposition

Industrial Hot Pepper

We offer an extensive range of peppers in various varieties, presentations, and formats, all meticulously designed to meet the specific demands of the industrial sector.

Research and Development Facilities

We specialize in creating and delivering innovative solutions to bring new product ideas to life, catering to the diverse needs of our clients, across industries including meat, snacks, beverages, dairy, food service, baking, and spicy products.

Innovation Hub

Our fully equipped Innovation Hub is at the disposal of our customers, allowing for product adaptation to their specifications and the reproduction of their production processes. This is all facilitated by our team of experienced food technologists.

Spice Society

The development of our sustainable farming community platform, proudly named SPICE SOCIETY, stems from a conscious awareness, a deep passion for the land, and a profound appreciation for the farmers who sustain it.

Currently our platform's working model includes more than 2,318 families that we have partnered with and who work their own land within Honduras, Central America, and Latin America in general.

Considering the platform' s growth rate, we predict that Spice Society will soon be home to 3,000 families of small Latin American farmers who will oversee the crops that Spice Society needs for manufacturing their high-quality food products and blends for their clients all around the globe.

Sauces

Our product line includes a variety of sauces that encompass traditional and contemporary flavors from both American and Latin cuisines.
